

Nuclear Data Week Venue & Transportation

Nuclear Data Week Website

<http://www.nndc.bnl.gov/meetings/csewg2010/>

Nuclear Data Week Venue

Nuclear Data Week meetings will take place at Eldorado Hotel & Spa, 309 W. San Francisco, Santa Fe, NM 87501.
(800) 955-4455 | (505) 988-4455 | (505) 995-4555 (fax), <http://www.eldoradohotel.com>

Santa Fe Convention & Visitors Bureau

201 W. Marcy St., Santa Fe, New Mexico Convention and Visitors Bureau 87501.
800-777-2489, <http://santafe.org/>

Getting to and Around Santa Fe

Santa Fe is located in Northern New Mexico, an hour's drive north of Albuquerque, the state's largest city and major air gateway.

The Albuquerque International Sunport (ABQ) as the airport is officially known, is serviced by all of the major U.S. airlines. Flying into Albuquerque and renting a car is by far the most popular way of traveling around New Mexico. But not the only way. Train service provides access to New Mexico on a daily basis as does the bus.

The Santa Fe Municipal Airport (SAF) is open to private aircraft and American Eagle, which offers two nonstop daily flights between Dallas and Santa Fe and one nonstop daily flight between Los Angeles and Santa Fe.

Sandia Shuttle Express (aka Santa Fe Shuttle) 1-888-775-5696, 505-474-5696

Provides 15 runs daily between downtown Santa Fe hotels and Albuquerque and 14 runs back between Albuquerque and downtown Santa Fe hotels.

Taos Express (505) 751-4459

Provides non-stop weekend shuttle service between Santa Fe and Taos. Reservations recommended.